L. B. KERR & CO.,
LIMITED.LUNCH WITH
Y. M. C. A.New Year's Spread
Is Enjoyed by Hundreds.

Young men of Honolulu were entertained at a fine luncheon yesterday at the Young Men's Christian Association hall from 12 to 2 p. m. and the reputation of the past luncheons was sustained by an appetizing array of salads, cold meats, coffee, bread and butter, jellies, fruits and cake. Several hundred persons were served during the two hours and were waited upon by a corps of ladies, both from the Y. W. C. A. and various church organizations of the city. The guests were received in the main hallway down stairs by the officers and directors of the association, and the greetings of the New Year extended them, whence they passed to the hall upstairs. Palm branches, potted plants, and festoons of Island greenery had transformed the hall into a picturesque conservatory interior. Long tables covered with snowy napery were spread and effectively decorated with the tracings of greens and sprays of the red pepper plant, and brilliant hibiscus blossoms. National flags and streamers were arranged with much taste behind the platform, in the foreground being all manner of tropical plants.

The platform was occupied by the Amateur orchestra of eighteen pieces, which played throughout the luncheon. The music was a pleasant feature, and many of the members were applauded with the reception given the players, by Wray Taylor, and was quite pleased with the reputation given the players. The rendition of a selection from Florida was so effective that it was played three times over, the guests staying their appetites the while to listen to the catchy air.

The committees in charge and those assisting were as follows:
General-Social committee of the Y. M. C. A., John Waterhouse, chairman.
Receiving-Board of Directors, viz.: T. Clive Davies, Jos. P. Cooke, A. B. Wood, C. H. Cooke, C. H. Atherton, Edgar Wood, Theodore Richards, R. H. Trent.

NEW SUITS IN
CIRCUIT COURTTerritory Must Defend Title
Against Private Fishery
Claims.

The Territory of Hawaii is going to have its hands full in defending the titles to the public fisheries from the number of new suits recently filed to compel a recognition of private fishing rights. Two such suits were filed yesterday. The Kapiolani Estate sues for certain fishing rights near the harbor of Honolulu, and known as the sea fishery of Mokuapea. The action is brought under Chapter 6, Sections 95 and 96 of the Organic Act.

Victoria Ward sues for the same privileges in the fishery at Kukuluaeo. Akula Woodward has brought suit against Joseph Woodward for absolute divorce. She alleges desertion and failure to provide. The parties were married in Honolulu March 20, 1892.

The records for the past year show a considerable increase in the number of cases docketed. There were 515 cases during the year in Circuit Court as against 385 in 1900.

Ninety-two cases were disposed of in Federal court.

There is likely to be another income tax appeal. The Oahu Railway and Land Company will carry, it is said, its case to the Supreme Court, on the ground that under its franchise the company cannot be taxed for a certain number of years from 1888.

COURT NOTES.

The disposition of Charles E. Guest was taken yesterday in the case of Mrs. Alice Hutchinson vs. Hawaiian Tramways Company.

A Flood of Gifts.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.-According to the daily papers never before in the history of the holiday festivities has Christmas giving been so universal in this city and vicinity. It is estimated that large business houses and corporations alone distributed over $1,000,000 among their employees. Other accounts tell how John D. Rockefeller gave the trainmen on the railroads on which he traveled on Christmas eve $10 gold pieces, and it is also said that Miss Helen Gould sent a bag of gold coins to be distributed among the employees upon her estates up the Hudson river.

Young ladies from the other Islands attending school in Honolulu, can find a very comfortable home with Miss Lynch, Peck avenue.
